TRAINING PROGRAMMES

with the plant manufacturer's know-how

LASTING SUCCESS

Well-trained specialist staff is the foundation for the lasting success of any plant operator. Equipping employees with the relevant know-how is equally important as keeping the plant and machinery up to the latest technical standards. That is why we offer training courses in which experts from SMS Meer pass on their extensive knowledge of the entire facility, its functions as well as the causes and effects of faults.

Knowing exactly how the functions are linked to with each other is the only way to achieving economic and above all productive output.

Our individual training courses help you to attain the highest level of efficiency for your machinery throughout its entire life cycle.

WHAT WE OFFER

- An analysis of individual training requirements
- Development of a special training plan
- Highly qualified trainers with the plant manufacturer's know-how
- Locally or at the SMS Meer Service Centre
- Inductions and follow-up training

On successful completion of the course each participant receives a training certificate!

COURSE CONTENT
